“Energy Conclave 2010”

International Symposium on

‘New Paradigms for Energy Policy and Regulation’

January 8, 2010

Introduction

The growth of the Indian economy in the near future requires substantial growth in energy supply. There is a need to enhance investment, to improve efficiency along the supply chain of energy and to bring in economic efficiency in the sector. Policy and regulatory framework plays a key role in achieving these objectives. The existing and emerging challenges in the Indian energy sector needs local solutions with insights from global experience. The regulatory institutions and policy makers have a key role to play in this direction.

This international symposium, a part of the Energy Conclave 2010, brings together national and international experts of repute. These include renowned academicians and accomplished practitioners. The symposium provides a platform for debating new paradigms for energy policy and regulation in the country.

Agenda

The agenda includes key issues covering policy and regulation across power, coal, oil & gas, renewable energy and climate change. It is proposed to cover the following issues,

1. Towards a framework for pricing in the energy sector
2. New paradigms for regulating power sector
3. A multi-sector energy regulator
4. Competition and choice in electricity
5. A market for energy efficiency in India
6. National Action Plan on Climate Change
7. Renewable energy: a new regulatory approach

Roundtable 1: Multi-Sector Regulator

Roundtable 2: Energy Policy and Climate Change

Who Should Attend

Academicians, regulators, senior officers from regulatory commissions, corporate entities in the energy sector – power, oil & gas, coal, renewable etc. banks, financial institutions, concerned government officials, equipment manufacturers, contractors, consultants, research scholars as well as students.

Lead Speakers

The lead speakers for the symposium include leading practitioners and academicians from renowned institutions within and outside the country. Some of the lead speakers invited for the symposium include

- Dr. Kirit S. Parikh, Former Member, Planning Commission
- Dr. Jayant Sathaye, Lawrence Berkley National Laboratory, USA
- Mr. Scott Hempling, Executive Director, National Regulatory Research Institute, USA
